Hundreds attend Anamosa's Spook Parade

LAURA DRUMMY • STAFF PHOTOS

A little boy riding an inflatable Tyrannosaurus Rex outfit chases Spiderman down Main Street.

RISE Counseling & Consulting was just one of the many businesses downtown that passed out sweet treats to many trick-or-treaters.

A friendly skeleton with large bug-eyes and a mischievous grin stops to chat with many Anamosa residents and excited trick-or-treaters of all ages.

After completing the Spook Parade, James Eurbanks of Anamosa, dressed as Spiderman, proudly displays his candy treat bag.

The American Gothic statues at the Jones County Tourism Office and Grant Wood Art Gallery were festively dressed up for Halloween.

On Oct. 17, the streets of Anamosa come alive with the playful antics of ghosts, goblins, princesses, and animal lovers, all radiating the festive spirit of Halloween.

Snow Removal Bids Wanted

The Jones County Board of Supervisors are seeking bids for snow removal at county property located at 500 W. Main St., 105 Broadway Place, 601 N. High St., Anamosa.
