

Grass fire

Floris Fire Chief Keith Waller (facing away from camera) talks with firefighter Milo Yoder during a small grass fire last Friday afternoon. Floris was called to extinguish a small grass fire at a residence on Nuthatch Avenue southwest of Floris. The fire resulted from a resident burning a small brush pile that spread. Firefighters needed just a few minutes on scene to get the small fire under control.

Learning about court reporting

High School sophomores Elizabeth Shields and Alycia Miller take a minute to talk with an exhibitor during the high school career fair that was held last week. Students had a chance to talk with many local and area employers about the types of careers that are available.

AREA NEWS

CORRESPONDENTS' REPORTS

Pulaski

Once again, we must extend condolences to several families. Sympathy to the families of Marilyn Downing, Donnie Jones, and Dewayne Lawson. All gave many hours to their communities, friends and families, and many memories are left by them all.
A Pulaski veteran received an award at the Bloomfield Christian Church veteran breakfast last week. Earl Trachsel was one of 11 vets receiving a beautiful patriotic quilt to honor his service. Vets were also honored with a program at the high school.

I appreciate the list of veterans in the newspaper, many of us were unaware of the service of several of them. We thank them all.
Gin Lammert and I attended the reception in Washington Friday evening for their annual small works show at Art Domestique gallery. Paintings had to be smaller than 12 inches. One guy did teeny 1-inch square paintings, and made them into refrigerator magnets. He must have used a one hair brush to paint them.

My little painting of a barn just west of Pulaski took third prize. The Fort Madison gallery is also hosting a mini show, with works smaller than 8 inches.
Many have seen the northern lights recently, and shooting stars galore. Iowa City people said they saw them the second night too, but there wasn't anything here like the first night. Quite spectacular.
