for always being an upbeat presence in our lives. I've enjoyed chit chatting with you in the hallways before school, but I am glad the positive stem is over. Thank you Mr. Wilderman, you've always kept life interesting. Arguably our grade's favorite coach, Mr. Potter, you have changed our lives in so many ways. From keeping us on our toes during class to pushing us to run our hardest, you have been a pillar in the lives of your students. On the more fun side: we all remember you bantering with Jackson during class and scolding us for buzzing early during the current events game. Thank you for always expecting the best from us, but being understanding when life goes awry. I am going to miss your classes and having you as a coach.

To our homeroom advisors, Briggs and Meyer, who have had to watch us for four years (I know that wasn't easy). Mrs. Briggs, thank you for always being down to earth. Some of our class's favorite memories are trying to scare you during homeroom and when we had to go clean the Thompson pool (that was definitely something). Thank you for advocating for us during the battle of the classes and being real to us even with the difficult subjects in life.

To my FFA advisor, Ag Teacher, and grade advisor Mr. Meyer, thank you. For such a busy person, you stay extremely involved in our school and are a pillar in our community. FFA trips with you are the absolute best, and I couldn't have asked for a different FFA advisor, it's been fun over the past four years. I think much without you. The last teacher I would like to single out is Mrs. Alhers. I know we all have our own opinions, but my absolute favorite class this year has been Spanish 4. Mrs. Alhers, you made me realize my love for learning another language, and I will be forever grateful. We've only had a year with you, but by far you have been the best Spanish teacher we've ever had. You always keep it real with us and actually make sure we are understanding the content that you're teaching. I think my favorite memory of Mrs. Ahlers is whenever she gives us life advice. Or when Mrs. Ahlers and Jackson got upset that the octopus video ended on a cliff hanger and

There have been many wonderful staff and teachers who have touched our lives, and we are grateful for them all. Without the faculty at North Iowa, we would not be the people we are today, and although we still have much growing to do, we cannot thank you enough for how you have helped us. To close out my speech, I would like to extend gratitude to the family and friends of all of the graduates. There are so many people behind the curtains who have pushed us in the right directions. From parents that help with homework to friends who check in on our wellbeing, thank you for your support. I know I have been lucky enough to have my teammates, family and friends behind me while I have gone through high school. You are all so loved and appreciated. Thank you all for being here to support us.
