However, Schultz said after doing research on the topic learned the use of eminent domain and carbon dioxide is part of Iowa Code.

“The legislature put carbon dioxide in the Iowa Code in 1985 as a proactive permissional use of eminent domain,” Schultz said. “(After) talking to the Iowa Utilities Commission (I learned that it happened) because of (a) farmer investor ethanol plant in Denison (around 1983 and 1984)

That investor group wanted to sell their carbon dioxide to IBP (Iowa Beef Packers who had a location) a quarter (and/or) half mile down the road (from the plant).. But there was corporate property inbetween. So instead of saying carbon dioxide is eligible for up to a mile or under five miles (for eminent domain) they just left it completely wide open (and a) multi-100 mile project was proposed.”

Schultz also said article 1 section 10 of Iowa Constitution says, “Iowa will not pass a law invalidating contract language which is already in effect under Iowa law,” and he was worried if Summit Carbon Solutions had a contract with landowners, that could open Iowa up to legal issues.

Iowa PBS offers live coverage of Yankee Doodle Pops!

JOHNSTON — The Des Moines Symphony’s annual Yankee Doodle Pops returns once again to the Iowa State Capitol in a statewide broadcast for all Iowans to enjoy. Iowa PBS will provide live coverage of the popular and patriotic performance this July. The Des Moines Symphony’s Yankee Doodle Pops will air live on Thursday, July 3 at 8:30 p.m. and be rebroadcast Friday, July 4 at 8:30 p.m.

This year, for the 31st annual event, the symphony will be joined by Emmy Award-winning vocalist Matthew Johnson who will perform pop tunes by Lionel Richie, Stevie Wonder and more! Music Director and Conductor Joseph Giunta and the musicians of the Des Moines Symphony will also perform time-honored patriotic favorites, including the “1812 Overture” and “Stars and Stripes Forever.”

The Des Moines Symphony has partnered with Iowa PBS since 2021 to broadcast the beloved program statewide.

In addition to our statewide broadcasts, Iowa PBS, WORLD and Create are available to livestream on iowapbs.org/live, pbs.org/livestream, and the PBS app. Iowa PBS KIDS is available to livestream on iowapbs.org/live or the PBS KIDS app. Iowa PBS programs are also available on most popular platforms. See all the ways you can watch by visiting iowapbs.org/watch.

Panama, Portsmouth, Westphalia, Kirkman, Tennant, Earling, Exira, and Brayton.

Officials said this is happening because drought conditions have persisted with below-average rainfall; water sources are operating at less than 60% capacity; demand has exceeded sustainable supply levels, especially during peak usage periods.

The following restrictions are in place: No outdoor watering of lawns, gardens, or landscapes; No washing of vehicles, driveways, sidewalks, or buildings; No filling or refilling of swimming pools, hot tubs, or ornamental fountains; restaurants may only serve water upon request; Lodging facilities must offer guests the option to reuse linens and towels; All leaks must be repaired within 48 hours of detection; Water use for construction purposes is restricted to essential activities only.

Water usage will be monitored and violations may result in fines or service restrictions.

Ways individuals can help include take shorter showers and turn off the tap while brushing teeth; Run dishwashers and washing machines only with full loads; Use water-efficient fixtures and appliances and Municipal and community events should strongly consider the use of portable latrines for events.

collaborative approach and strategic vision make him well-suited to lead the organization into its next phase of growth.

Mr. Weispfennig will step into his role as Chief Executive Officer of ACMH on Monday, June 23, 2025.

Mr. Weispfennig states,

“I’m deeply passionate about rural healthcare because I know firsthand how vital local access to quality care is for families and communities. Growing up in a rural town in west central Minnesota, I saw the strength and resilience of places like Audubon — and I’m honored to serve a community that shares those same values.”

Please join us in welcoming Callen Weispfennig to the Audubon County Memorial Hospital & Clinics team.
